NEW LONDON, CT
APARTMENT FOR RENT

This stately, turn-of-the-century apartment building offers an ideal setting for a quiet individual that appreciates older buildings. Built in 1855 as a single family home by Benjamin Armstrong, it was converted to apartments during World War II.

Located in the Historic Post Hill District of New London at 33 Granite Street, the apartments are all spacious single bedrooms. Floors are the original oak, and much of the trim is the original cherry and mahogany. The Roger W. Dennis Impressionistic Garden is located on the side yard.
